ABOUT ALLEGRA MEDICAL TECHNOLOGIES:

Allegra Medical Technologies (AMT), a listed biotechnology company on the Australian Securities Exchange (ASX), is at the forefront of innovation in the medical device industry with its pioneering 3D-printed Sr-HT and Sr-HT-Gahnite orthopaedic devices. AMT holds exclusive ownership of this groundbreaking bio ceramic material, along with registered patents and patent applications from the University of Sydney. This versatile material has several applications, including its use as a cervical fusion cage in spinal surgeries, offering safe and effective treatment options for patients. The development of Sr-HT ceramic material began in 2010 at The University of Sydney, demonstrating the bioactivity required for bone regeneration. Subsequently, Sr-HT-Gahnite was developed, featuring bioactivity, biocompatibility, and mechanical properties suitable for load-bearing orthopaedic implants. AMT boasts a dedicated, highly qualified engineering team with a clear mandate to explore, collaborate, and transform early-stage innovations into commercially viable products. Their primary focus currently centres on commercializing the Sr-HT Gahnite Bone substitute.
